

RE

Intent

At Newcroft Primary Academy our RE teaching offers a broad and rich curriculum that ensures coverage of the Leicestershire RE Syllabus. Our planning ensures that lessons are delivered in a variety of ways to explore religions, their community and personal development and wellbeing. We are providing a high quality, coherent and progressive experience of the subject, with scope for cross-curricular learning. Through their learning, children will know about and understand a range of religions and world views, enabling a more tolerant and global view on their place in the world.

What?

Impact

All year groups work from the Leicestershire Curriculum Guides.

A consistent and systematic planned approach to ensure thorough and robust coverage. Children know about a range of religions and worldviews, recognising diversity and gain a greater understanding of their local and worldwide community.

Regular religious focus days.

Pupils are engaged about the learning of different religions, and gain a greater understanding of other people's views. These are held across the school and help to deepen their understanding.

Discrete & cross-curricular teaching.

Children are learning to become more tolerant and knowledgeable about customs and communities around them.

Visits to places of worship and visits by religious ambassadors and parents.

Children are gaining first-hand experience from people of different religions, where possible, which will encourage tolerance and a deeper understanding of other people and their cultures.
